

STORIES FROM THE RICH PAST OF OUR PARISH

It was no fun being a Warden in the 19th. Century. John Creighton, a Warden was buried on June 6, 1826. He was the Lt. Col. of the Militia and Judge of the Inferior Court. He had been a Church Warden in 1811. In those days a committee of the Vestry assessed each family a Levy to support the Church. It was recorded that this warden was not a good collector and was 37 Pounds and 11 Shillings in arrears.. As a result the Vestry proposed in suing for the sum, even after the gentleman died.

I regret that there has not been an historical note in recent months. My health has not been good, however, it has improved and this item will again appear. Submitted by George Munroe, Heritage Chairperson
